Nebbiolo Day is the first ever comprehensive UK trade tasting that covers all 19 Italian denominations producing this complex and ageworthy red grape variety. Organised by Walter Speller and Hunt & Coady, more than 80 producers and winemakers will be presenting their wines in a full day's immersion in Nebbiolo, showcasing the variety's many expressions that originate from Northern Italy's diverse terroirs, and putting an inimitable stamp on the wines' styles.

Barolo and Barbaresco are increasingly admired and popular in the UK, but until now a wide-ranging, indepth UK tasting with producers from both these denominations has been sorely lacking. At the same time, the small and often tiny denominations of Alto Piemonte, such as Gattinara, Lessona and Boca, to name just a few, increasingly attracted my attention because of their unique, elegant, and ageworthy wines based on Nebbiolo, produced by a truly overachieving, new generation. I am equally impressed by the very few and rare Nebbiolo wines from Valle d'Aosta and Carema, where plantings of this variety are bound to increase, as well as the Nebbiolos from Valtellina, called Chiavennasca here. Its unique Sfurzat version is one of the very few, dry red wines made of dried grape varieties that actually gains in complexity, instead of being compromised by the process.

Italy has no generic body to promote its wines, which is why many of its finest producers remain under the radar in the UK market. This fact inspired me to create Nebbiolo Day, the ambitious project of getting as many Nebbiolo producers in London under one roof. Nebbiolo Day is a UK and a world first and I am especially excited that a younger generation as well as many newcomers will present their wines for the first time in the UK. For a full list of producers attending see below.

This unique event needed an experienced partner, which I found in Hunt & Coady, who have been specialised in organising Italian wine tastings for the UK trade for decades. Nebbiolo Day takes place on Monday 13th of November 2017 10-17hrs at Lindley Hall, London SW1P 2PE.
